Parental alienation and high conflict family separation

Children who resist or refuse a relationship with a parent after separation is increasingly becoming an issue of concern to both parents and professionals alike. These workshops will provide a deeper understanding of alienation, its causes, symptoms and how it may be treated. Facilitated by Karen and Nick Woodall of the Family Separation Clinic this is a unique opportunity to learn about children displaying rejecting behaviour or experiencing alienation.

The cost of this special event is just

£ 75.00
